

It's Blood Cancer Awareness month

Do they feel weaker than usual?

Muscle weakness is one of the signs of MDS – myelodysplastic syndromes, a group of rare blood cancers.

As MDS is most seen in adults over the age of 70, symptoms are often confused with general signs of ageing. But if your patients report:

- Things feel heavier than normal
- Walking feels harder than usual
- General lack of energy

A complete blood count can determine if further action is required. So, if your patients report feeling weaker than usual, #ThinkMDS #OrderaBloodCount
